Silica Sampling Made Simple!

CSDA has partnered with CEA (Construction Employers Association) to help you conduct silica testing when Table 1 does not cover the task you are performing.

Simply enroll in the CSDA sampling group, conduct your testing using your own equipment or equipment rented from CEA and get results that you can then submit to the CEA Objective Data Program. By being a member of the CSDA Sampling Group you get access to the data generated by others in the construction industry and other participating CSDA members, potentially saving you the need to test each time you perform a task. Cost to enroll is only $100 per company if you are a CSDA member, and $200 for nonmembers.
